Millionaires' Sons Had Sought to Have Father of Boy Throw Ransom Money From Train Window

Chicago, June 2. — The legal battle of millions to free Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, scholarly sons of two Chicago millionaires, and confessed kidnappers and slayers of 13-year-old Robert Franks, son of another millionaire Chicagoan, opened

Heating on a writ of habeas corpus for release of the two youths was continued to June 6, but the defense succeeded in obtaining an order taking the boys from the custody of the police and remanding them to the care of the sheriff of Cook county. They were taken to the county jail tonight.

The inquest into young Frank's death was reopened today with the confessed slayers in attendance, but was again continued to June 27.

Robert E. Crowe, state attorney, said he will take the case before the grand jury tomorrow and will probably consume three days in presenting his evidence. He said he expected to ask for indictments for murder

The most important evidence unearthed today was a letter which Mr. Crowe said was written to Jacob Frank, father of the slain boy, by Leopold and Loeb and which was found in a Michigan Central Pullman car at New York.

Elaborate Plans to Get Money.

When young Frank disappeared

May 21. Leopold and Loeb, according to Mr. Crowe, called the Franks home by telephone and notified the parents that their son was held for ransom. Next day, their confessions said, they sent Mr. Franks a letter asking $10,000 ransom and in the afternoon shortly the father who had the money, waiting, telling him to go to a nearby drug store. He failed to understand the address and did not go. Had he proceeded to the store, the boys said, he would have been instructed to buy a Michigan Central railroad ticket to

Garry, Ino and to sit in a certain rear car seat where the letter had been placed. The letter instructed him to watch for a large sign after passing a certain street and to count four streets and then toss the money out of the window, the boy's said.

This part of their plot, according to Mr. Crowe had been carefully rehearsed, the boys having made the trip themselves and towed a bundle of papers representing the money from the car window at the specified

The boys said, according to Mr. Crowe, that the elaborate plans were taken so that Mr. Franks would have no time to notify the authorities after receiving his final instructions and could not get off the train when he delivered the money. The youths said they intended to have an automobile ready to speed away with the cash and

Motivated Driver Identifies Them.
The Pullman car in which the letter was found left here the day of the kidnapping. The accused youths spent

A busy day, being rushed from a police station to the state attorney's office, from there to the court hearing, then to the Inquest, and back to the state attorney's office where a conference between the prisoners, attorneys, and relatives lasting for two

Charles Ream, the taxi driver, who was the victim several months ago of an attack and mutilation, was taken to the state attorney's office by reporters late today to try to identify the man who shot him.

As the youths were led through an outer office where Ream sat, he leaped to his feet, shouting, "It's them!" Then fell back in a faint, weeping Ream left before the authorities had an opportunity to question him.

At the time of the attack Ream said he did not get a good view of his assailants and doubted his ability to identify them after the attack.

THOUSANDS CHEER AVIATORS
(By the Associated Press)

Kagoshima, Japan, June 2.—Thousands of people lined the waterfront of Kagoshima and stood on the hills

The flight was a string-and-dribble one. It took six hours to cover the 425 miles. Fuel runs and winds retarded the aviators, who had been delayed at Kuchino by bad weather. On landing, the aviators were re-received by Henry B. Hitchcock, American consul at Nagasaki, who has traveled to Kagoshima to welcome them.

CARROLL PREMIER COLLEGIAN

Former Oneonta Giant Called Greatest College Pitcher.
Owen Carroll, star pitcher of the Holy Cross team of Worcester, Mass., is said to have received more flattering offers from big league clubs than any other college pitcher.

Holy Cross has developed some wonderful ball players, possibly more than any other college in the world. Carroll recently twirled Holy Cross to victory, 3 to 2, over Princeton in 14 rounds. In this grueling engagement Owen gave up nine hits, gave one base on balls and struck out 17 men.
Jack Barry, former member of the Philadelphia Athletics, is the baseball coach at Holy Cross. It is rumored that Barry considers Carroll the greatest college pitcher he has ever seen in action. Also that Barry believes that Owen is a better twirler than many of the boys twirling under the big tent right now. That's a compliment.

The old grapevine wireless has the information that Carroll and Ty Cobb of the Detroit Americans have hooked up. If Carroll runs to form in the American circuit—if he does join the Tigers—he may prove just the needed cog in the machine which will win the flag in Uncle Sam's loop.—Albany Evening Journal.

SCRANTON TIES ONEONTA

League Leading Miners Smash Their Way to 11 to 5 Victory at Nehaw Park Yesterday.

Displaying an ability with the bat and in the field that left small wonder in the minds of the fans that the team is at the top of the New York-Pennsylvania league, Scranton smashed its way to an 11 to 5 victory at Nehaw park yesterday afternoon. Walsh was known as the best early in the seventh inning and the offerings of Lodestra, who succeeded him, were treated none too gently by the slugging Miners. Neither pitcher received good support, the Giants making seven errors, all of them at crucial moments.

Oneonta also had on its batting clothes, the Giants making nearly as many hits as their opponents, but the bingles were well scattered in the main. Dangerous looking rallies were staged in the second and ninth innings but each was checked before serious damage was done.

Whatever the reason may be it is certain that Oneonta's fielding was far below what the men had displayed in previous games. It must be admitted that the break went against the Giants but even so, it is a fact that the work of the team in fielding is below what they can be expected to produce. It may be that nervousness incident to the first test against a really strong team had something to do with it. The team fought all the way, however, and an exhibition of trying is always pleasing to the fans.

Walsh held the Miners well in the first two innings and pulled out of several bad holes. Hood, the first man up in the third, reached second when Thomas missed his long fly. Comstock walked. Both men advanced a bag on Hickey's out, second to first, and both scored when Harner juggled Topel's grounder. Topel went to third when Rose doubled and crossed the plate on Morris' out, short to first.

Scranton scored once in the sixth. Rose singled over short but was out trying to stretch it. Morris was out on a fly to Roche. Spleers hit a hard one to Harner, who threw wild at first, the runner taking second and continuing the circuit when Stuckack, who was backing up Lobee, recovered the pill and made a bad heave to third.

The fifth inning was the bad one for Oneonta. Blossom singled and crossed the plate behind Hood, when the latter jammed the pellet over the right field fence, the first time the trick has ever been done by a white man. Comstock was out when Thomas cupped his foul fly. Hickey was safe on Harner's error and Topel walked. Hickey scored on Rose's hit to left and Topel took second. Lodestra took up the pitching burden here. Topel angled Rose again advanced a sack on a cleverly executed double steal and both scored on Lobee's error. The next two men went out in quick succession.

Scranton scored its final two runs in the next inning. Blossom, first up, walked, went to second on a wild pitch and scored on Hood's double. His third extra base hit of the game. Hood scored on Hickey's single to center.

Oneonta scored two runs in the third. Walsh, first up, made his sixth consecutive hit and Wilcox was walked. Successive singles by Fitch and Harner sent them across the plate. Another was added in the seventh. Wilcox and Fitch singled in succession and Eckstein walked. Wilcox scored when the Scranton shortstop elected to make Eckstein the victim of a putout on Lobee's ground ball. Thomas went out to Topel, unassisted, and the rally was over.

Oneonta staged another rally in the ninth. Wilcox singled, went to second on Topel's error, took third on Fitch's infield out and scored when Harner went out, third to first. The last score of the game crossed the plate when Eckstein and Lobee combined in error.

Did You Know That—?

By Peg Murray

Herb Pennock, leading American league pitcher of 1923, has several thoroughbred sleptic chambers, and every fall can be seen following the hounds at various hunt clubs in Eastern Pennsylvania.
Grover Cleveland Alexander is a good trap shooter and breaks a flock of clay pigeons now and then in the off-season to keep his eye in shape for the sharp shooting that has made him famous as a National league pitcher. He shoots at the Lincoln park trap in Chicago.
This speaker is an amateur magician, and when a rainy afternoon interferes with the ball game he amuses his fellow Indians by cutting a pencil in two with a dollar bill and other interesting phenomena? Can he produce a pennant for Cleveland from thin air this year?
In Canada the world's champion Yankees are referred to as Killies? We never yet saw Babe Ruth dressed like the "ladies from hell," but don't doubt that he could act the part.

What tricks has a pitcher at his command other than the use of curves?
Answered by JACK BENTLEY

Pitcher, New York Giants. Known as a terrific slinger. Purchased from Baltimore for approximately $45,000.
One of the best tricks which a pitcher has at his command—and I think even a better trick than using curves—is "mixing 'em up," or changing the pace of the delivery. The idea in this trick is to throw several fast balls and then sneak one across the plate which will make the batter almost break his back reaching for it. To make this trick effective the slow ball has to be delivered with the same motion as is used in delivering the speedy ball. I think that this trick is more effective than curves oftentimes and I am sure that it is easier on the pitching arm.

PITCHING AN OUTSHOOT

Grasp the ball with the two fingers and support with thumb. Catch it along the seams. OUCH! IT ALONG THE SEAMS.
GIVE SNAP OF WRIST AND ARM JUST AS BALL LEAVES HAND.
USE ONLY ARM DELIVERY FOR ALL PITCHES EXCEPT CURVES.
What is the proper way to pitch an outshoot?
Answered by GROVER CLEVELAND ALEXANDER
Pitcher, Chicago Cubs. A major league leader for 17 years. Greatest pitcher in the National league.
Grasp the ball with the two fingers and support it with the thumb, as shown in the illustration. Catch it along the seams, as this will give it a more decided break. Use a straight over-arm delivery, getting the full sweep of the arm and shoulder muscles into the ball. Let the ball leave the hand as should be given a little snap of the wrist and arm. If you are a right handed pitcher, the snap means that the back of the hand turns so that it is facing the ground. Having once attained a curve, the next thing is to get it under control and make it "break" fast.

MEMORIAL DAY AT SCHENECTADY

Inspiring and Impressive Exercises Held With Civil War Veterans' Central Figures — Other Schenectady Items.

Schenectady, June 2. — Exercises held in this village on Friday were both impressive and inspiring. The few remaining members of the Brown post of the G. A. A troop of the Boy Scouts and also a squad of World War soldiers were in the line of march, as well as the faculty, board of education and student body of the High School. The school band furnished the music of the day and won favorable comment from the hearers. The address of the afternoon delivered by Rev. Clarence E. Brown of Cooperstown, an overseas man himself, was listened to with eager attention by a good sized audience. One of the finest and best addresses ever given on such an occasion was the verdict of many.

Never Fails to End Piles

Many sufferers from piles or hemorrhoids have become despondent because they have been led to believe that their case was hopeless and that there was nothing in the world to help them. To these people we say, "Go to your druggist and get an original box of Mova Suppositories." One of these inserted into the rectum according to directions will be found to give immediate relief. They reach the source of the trouble and by their soothing, healing, antiseptic action first allay the pain and soreness and then by direct contact with the ulcers and piles cause them to heal up and disappear forever. It's simply wonderful how speedily they act. Blessed relief often comes in two days. Even in cases that have steadily resisted all known treatments, marvelous results have been obtained. Slide's Drug store dispenses Mova Suppositories in the original box or can get for you on short notice. Advt.

Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound First. Proved Good Advice

Chicago, Illinois. — "Just a few lines to let you know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. I was married going on for three years, and went to a doctor and was taking treatments twice a week for pain every month. I used to lie in bed three or four days with them and the doctor would call and inject something into my arm to put me asleep so I would not feel the pain. At last he said I would have to be operated on if I wanted any children. Well, I just happened to go to see a friend with her little baby and I told her I was going to the hospital, and she said, 'Don't do it! You need a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and you won't need any operation.' So my husband got me a bottle right away. Now I have two lovely children. # BOBBIE JONES,

KING OF ALL GOLFERS.

CAN HE SURVIVE THE ATTACK UPON HIS CROWN BY THE BEST KNIGHTS OF THE NICKEL IN THE LAND?

Let one of the four great champions just before he loses his title succeed in knocking the crown from the head of Bobbie Jones next Monday and Friday? He looks unlikely, according to the odds. The chances are about a hundred to one that he won't retain it. That's why his title as champion is so secure.

Let the winners' names. The two has Hagen, Jones and Hutchison. Let's face it, we know golf as they, deep out of Cribbshank, Bunker and Sarazan: one of the salacious hopes that either Mr. Smith, Harrison or Barnes will win the gold for him, and then the one who gets the breaks is going to win.

Probably Luke McElroy of Main Street will be the new champion. The gold narrows down to the few who are in perfect form for the two days, and then the one who gets the breaks is going to win.

Wrinkles Gone!—After Only Ten Minutes' Treatment

New Spanish Discovery Quickly Restores Youthful Bloom Regardless of Age

Every woman knows where age first shows its power to mar beauty. She dreads to look in her mirror for fear of finding deepening lines in her face; she dreads to examine her hands for fear of flabbiness and tiny wrinkles will warn her of disappearing youth. But there is no longer any need to fear your mirror!

Wrinkles cannot remain longer than 10 minutes if Onamor is applied. Onamor is the name of the marvelous new discovery made by the Spanish Chemist, Jacques Romano, which, on its first application, removes the wrinkles, crow-feet, and frown lines that can so disfigure the most beautiful face.

But Onamor does not stop there. Used night and morning its purpose is to remove every trace of every wrinkle from face or body, to eradicate blackheads, refine enlarged pores and bring back the glowing complexion and smooth contours of youth which advancing age threatens to destroy.

Onamor can do this because it works on an entirely new principle. It is unlike anything you have ever used before. Onamor rejuvenates the skin. It stimulates the blood circulation and eliminates flabbiness. It vitalizes and builds up living tissues to their normal vigor—it gets at the cause of wrinkles and so removes them.

Onamor requires no massaging. Its power is contained in the cream itself. It is absolutely pure and harmless; contains no clay or starch of any sort to clog the pores of the skin.

And Onamor is sold with an absolute money back guarantee.

Go to any druggist or department store named below and purchase a tube of Onamor with this guarantee of satisfaction: if you are not delighted with the wonderful improvement in your complexion from the very first application of Onamor, every cent you paid for the tube will be refunded. Try it to-night before going out. The results will amaze you. You can get Onamor with this guarantee at the following good stores:

George S. Stone, Albert H. Stone, H. B. Goldstein, Marsh, The Druggist, Everybody's Drug Store, Dickson Bros.

Sensible War Preparation.
There is one type of war preparation which is the most thorough-going and which could hardly be objected to. It is preparation with which the United States has been occupied, since the armistice, on a vast scale, and unobtrusively and inexpensively. It is the organizing of American industry for war.

The World war demonstrated that victory depends on industrial power even more than on man-power, and that of the two, industry is the harder to mobilize. Russia was beaten, with the biggest armies of history in the field, for lack of well organized war industries behind them. It took even the United States two years to get its industrial machine functioning at anywhere near capacity. There will be no such delay here in case of another war.

The American Society of Mechanical Engineers reveals the scope of industrial war plans. There are some 70,000 items required by a modern army, and they have $50,000 different parts. Army engineers know how and where every part can be made, in adequate quantity. Commercial industry can furnish 95 per cent of those parts, and government arsenals the rest. The country is divided into districts, each with its quota of materials. There are 10,000 manufacturers listed and classified for production. If war breaks out every one of those manufacturers will be made at once an officer, in charge of production in his own plant, under the inspection of officers appointed by the technical section, and responsible to the army authorities. Changes required to convert plants from peace work to war work are all ready.

The more fact of such intensive organization should be enough to keep any other nation from attacking this country. Combined with a good skeleton army organization and plans for drafting and training new troops—which also are ready—it shows the United States in a position of unprecedented preparedness.

It is a vast improvement over mere armament—great aggregations of soldiers and warships—because it is not "eating its head off," not rusting in disuse, not fostering a military spirit and putting other nations in fear of aggression.

COSTLY UNPREVENTED CRIME
This country's annual burglary and larceny losses are estimated at $1,000,000,000. The estimate does not include the expense of taking care of convicted criminals in prison; that would add another large sum to the price the public must pay for unpreventable crime.

Another fact set forth by the same authorities is that 75 or 80 per cent of these crimes are committed by boys and young men between 16 and 25 years of age. Very few of these offenders are "born" criminals. Environment, lack of proper training, misdirected energy and a spirit of adventure have led to the first offense. Unintelligent handling by courts of justice and prison authorities have finished the work of making them "hardened criminals."

If a man reaches the age of 30 years, says one judge, without committing a crime, it is unlikely that he will ever become a criminal.

Taking all these things into consideration, does it not seem just as important, if not more so, to prevent crime in the first place as to concentrate official efforts on punishing it afterward?

The Marshall Stillman movement in New York city exists for such a purpose. It has enlisted the co-operation of the police, the clergy and the judges of the criminal courts. Its aim is twofold: to keep the boy in the perilous period between 16 and 25 from becoming a criminal, and to help the convicted back to self-respect and self-support when he leaves prison.

From practical experience, one judge says that 97 per cent of the first offenders given another chance make good. As a straightforward business proposition this method of crime prevention pays well. As a human proposition it values its investment.

PAYED HALF MILLION MARK.
Conservation Receipts Largest in History of Commission.

Albany, June 2.—Conservation Commissioner Alexander Macdonald turned into the state treasury $22,577.35 received from the sale of hunting licenses, furs and pelts and miscellaneous sources during April. This makes a total of $619,743.34 for the first ten months of the current fiscal year, and is the largest amount ever collected since the commission was established.

Receipts from the sale of hunting licenses alone amounted to $247,441 which is an increase of $63,543 over the corresponding period of last year, while receipts from furs and pelts aggregated $178,128 which was an increase of $24,511. Other increases were from the sale of trout, fish, rabbits, net licenses, dog licenses and taxes and penalties. The total net increase this year to date is $70,668.

Receipts from the division of Saratoga Springs also show an increase this year to date of $21,642.26, the major part of which comes from patronage of the baths.

Oneonta's Community Plan.
The work of putting the city water in Oneonta's community, started last fall, has been completed. Two by-draws have been tested and later it is hoped to have a small fountain there. This has been made possible by the receipt from Mrs. Francke of $2,000, which was given the community officials last year for such work in improving the community as they might deem wise and best.—Herald.

WHAT THE PAPERS SAY

Ohio Chosen to Grace Flight.

Finance Director Stewart of Toledo, answering a recent newspaper statement that his municipality is "broke for lack of taxes," denies that sinking funds or the safety of bonds are menaced, but explains: "The City of Toledo is in the same general condition that all the cities of Ohio are in at this time, all being deprived of adequate operating funds, due to existing state laws limiting the cities' incomes too closely."—Brooklyn Eagle.

Mr. Longworth's Good Work.

The present session of congress has brought unusual opportunities as well as usual problems to Representative Nicholas Longworth, as leader of the Republican majority in the house. He has profited by these opportunities and solved many of the problems, and now emerges from a historic session with greatly enhanced credit and reputation as a parliamentarian and law-maker.—Washington Post.

The Farm Products Show.

Of course, the solution for the question of scope and space of the State Farm Products show is the purchase by the commonwealth of a site and the erection thereon of buildings for a state fair. But, as that is a matter for the future and does not seem to be imminent owing to state finances, the next best thing is getting the room needed.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

The Mystery of Lodge.

It is a little hard to tell what ails Senator Lodge. Perhaps he has merely been unable to understand the sentiment of the home folks. But there are times at which it seems as though he had given himself over to perpetual opposition toward all presidents of the United States.—Worcester Telegram.

Nervous in Ohio.

It's getting so that if anybody so much as looks fixedly at us high-minded Ohio men we flinch around uncomfortably for a little while and soon say with an air of injured innocence: "What are you looking at us for? We didn't steal anything."—Ohio State Journal.

Well?

What is it about a hat that causes popular interest and excitement out of all proportion? A straw hat worn a week or so earlier in the spring than the date on which it is generally adopted? Or a silk hat on a frontier?—Kansas City Star.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barker, M.D.
THE EYES AND MOTORING.
One of the first things I was taught as a youngster was that green was an easy color on the eyes, and that was why so much of nature was green. The green leaves, the green grass, the foliage of all kinds, the bluish green of the rivers, lakes and seas.

And so when the automobile salesman tells you what a wonderful thing it is for your whole system to get away from the city, with its paved streets and brick buildings, he is only telling you the truth. If we could all get out of the cities and live amid the green fields, it would be of great benefit to our whole nervous system.

The constant steady view of everything but green has a wearing effect upon us.

However, it is not color I want to talk about today, but the bad habit motorists have of gazing steadily at the road, for sometimes hours at a stretch.

I know you can't drive a motor car without keeping an eye on the road. You must watch out for other cars, and for the safety of those in your own car.

But what I refer to is that you will often drive out into the country for miles, and all you see, except the road, is the occasional view you get of the speedometer.

Now, I'm not thinking about the beautiful view you are missing, of all the objects of interest unobserved by you. What I am thinking about is that you get to the end of your destination sometimes and have a slight headache. You can't blame your eyes for the exhaustion of other cars, for often you have had the road practically to yourself.

What's the matter?
Have you ever held your arm out to its fullest extent on a level with your shoulder?

In three to five minutes your shoulder muscle aches badly.

Did you ever stop to think that although the eye can get tired from trying to look through a dusty windshield, that the real cause of your headache, in and over the eyes, is due to holding the eye in the one position?

It is exactly the same as holding out your arm. These little muscles holding and turning the eyes get tired if held in the one position for too long at a stretch.

So, when you strike a nice piece of road, free of other vehicles, with no steep down-hill other side, why not take an occasional look at the scenery through which you are passing? You may not make as many miles as you would otherwise, but you'll find that motoring will not pull on you as soon.

You see you have been driving so long that you do everything automatically, and now that the roads are good, you arrive at your destination in good shape, because the driving really seems so mental or physical effort.

Why not complete things by getting an occasional view of the country by driving slowly or letting some one else do some of it? It will mean less life for your eyes and thus for your nervous system generally.

LEAGUE BUYING CERTIFICATES

Official Announcement of Dairymen's Official Says Concern Will Pay 95 Per Cent for $250,000 of Indebtedness.

The board of directors of the Dairymen's League Co-operative association, Inc., has voted to use an initial appropriation of $250,000 to a sinking fund to retire certificates of indebtedness for the purchase of certificates of Series A, maturing in 1927, says an official announcement. Certificates of indebtedness represent deductions made from members' milk checks as loans to the association to provide funds for purchasing or building milk plants and for working capital. They bear 6 per cent interest and are payable in five years. The total amount of Series A is $4,307,960.24 for deductions made in 1921-1922, the first year of the pooling plan.

The association will pay 95 cents on the dollar for the certificates, plus accrued interest to July 1, 1924. Chester Young, the treasurer, has been authorized to make the purchases from July 1 to 31, inclusive. Numbers from 1 to 10 were placed in a hat and President G. W. Slocum, in the presence of the directors, drew "10," thus determining that the association would buy certificates bearing serial numbers ending in a cipher in case owners wish to sell.

All directors, county presidents and membership auditors have signed an agreement not to offer their certificates for sale to the sinking fund.

The Dairymen's League Co-operative Association, Inc., owns milk plants and equipment originally costing $2,212,125.78. Depreciation has been charged off until the plants stand on the association's books at $5,717,498.76. The association has at this time in cash and inventories, after deducting all its liabilities, sufficient resources to pay 52.3 per cent of all certificates of indebtedness issued or to be issued without selling, pledging or sacrificing any of its plants.

THE RESTORED CABOOSE

The old D. & H. caboose in which 49 years ago the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, one of the strongest of labor organizations in the world, was founded in this city, along with as many of the surviving founders as can be persuaded to come to Oneonta will be the setting and actors for a moving picture to be taken in the D. & H. yards in this city today by D. L. Cuse, editor of the official organ of the brotherhood. So far as The Star has been able to learn, the surviving founders include H. Seymour Wilber of Cooperstown, Martin Ryan of Binghamton, Elmer Wessell of Binghamton, Charles Woodworth of Cleveland and W. C. Gurney of Binghamton.

The caboose has just recently been rebuilt, repainted, and restored to its original condition as far as possible, even to the old number, 14. It will be remembered that the caboose was for some time used as a tool house in the Oneonta yards of the company, being situated near Glen Bridge.

Agitation for the preservation of the caboose has been heard from time to time, but until the recent celebration of the founding held in this city did plans materialize. At that time Col. J. T. Lore of the D. & H. company promised his support to the project and the plans have moved ahead steadily since that time.

A location for the pergoia, which is to shelter the caboose in its permanent location in Neahwa park, has been chosen near the artificial lake, and assurance has been given that the construction of the building will be started in a short time.

The plans as drawn by Architect Clark of the D. & H. company provide a very pretty setting for the memorial and Mr. Clark has given much time and effort to the proposition thus far, with promise of every further help that may be needed.

As soon as the pergoia has been erected and the caboose settled there a national celebration is planned to be held in Oneonta, at which time representatives of many of the larger railroads and Brotherhoods of the country will be present, including a large delegation of the grand lodge officers.

Further announcement of these plans will be made in The Star as soon as they have been completed.

ALBANY PROFESSIONALS

Ladies' Day Attraction at Neahwa Park—Team Composed of Stars of Capital District.

Oneonta baseball fans who have been favored with excellent games this season have another treat in store for this afternoon, Ladies' day, when the Albany All Professionals, a team composed of the pick of the players of the capital district, will oppose the Giants at Neahwa park at 4:15 o'clock. Today, being Ladies' day, all members of that sex being admitted free, and circus day as well, a large attendance of residents of the city and surrounding territory is expected.

The Giants are now getting into their best stride, the game with the league leading Scranton team of yesterday showing that the men can play not only errorless baseball, but hit the best of pitchers as well, and enthusiasm in the team is at a pitch which has not been reached in several seasons. If you are one of the few who have not seen the charges of Manager Thomas in their war clothes, take your lady friend, who might be your wife, to the game this afternoon and join the ranks of loyal rooters. Games here with the D. & H. Generals of Albany and Glens Falls have been booked for Thursday and Friday and record crowds are being expected for those contests. Certainly all those who remember the 17 inning game in which the Giants and the Generals engaged in one of their last appearances here, will be out, strongly reinforced by those who for any reason were forced to miss that game.

A POLISH REFUGEE

Student of Seventh Grade at Oneonta High School Delivers Interesting Paper

NO BREAD FOR A YEAR

Miss Takla Doku-chitsa Tells of Experiences During War in Poland. First Driven by Germans, Then Hung in Fight Between Red and White and Finally Starved Under Jurisdiction of Re-established Poland.

Following is the story told by Miss Takla Doku-chitsa of 22 West Broadway, this city, yesterday, before an assembly at the high school. While she is but a young student in the seventh grade of the school, she speaks Polish, Russian and the English language and writes clearly and effectively.

Her story, which follows, will be read with interest by many in this vicinity:

In 1914 when war was declared I was only six years old. I lived in Malech in the western part of Russia, not far from the German border. My father came to America in 1909 and my mother and I lived with my grandfather on the farm.

About a year and a half later the German soldiers came. I was looking after the cows when I saw a German officer on a horse come out of the forest. He fired a shot in the air and other soldiers rode out and went towards the village. I was so excited I didn't know what to do. I left the cows and ran home to tell mother. Everybody in the house was frightened. I ran down to the barn and locked the door so that the Germans couldn't get our horses. Everybody on the street was crying and the German army came like rain.

They spoke to us but we could not understand them. They ran into the houses looking for something to eat. If the people didn't give them food the Germans hit them with straps. They searched through all of the houses looking for strong men to take in their army. After the soldiers had been in the village about three weeks an order came from Germany that they were to drive us from our homes. One bright sunny day the German officer told us to get out. We didn't know where we were going to but we took our horses and wagons and some food.

About fifty wagons went out of the village and the officer sent twenty-five German soldiers with us. They told us they were to take us to Gnodno, about 200 miles away. We had been gone from the village only a little while when the Polish army entered and drove the Germans out, and they rushed by us. We had to cross the river. Most of the wagons had crossed when the Germans blew up the bridge to keep the Polish army from following them. Some of our people were drowned and the rest of us ran for our lives.

It took us three weeks to drive from Malech to Gnodno. We had to sleep on the ground or in the wagons. We had very little to eat and some of the people starved to death. The Germans said they would kill us if we didn't do as they told us to. We stayed in Gnodno three nights and left our horses and wagons there. Then the Germans put us in box cars—two or three families in each car. They took us south across Russia to Berdyansk on the Black Sea. While we were on the train they gave us only two meals a day—strong coffee with a little sugar, one slice of bread, and some potatoes. At Berdyansk there were rich people who took pity

INTERCLASS TRACK MEET

Preparations Nearing Completion for Oneonta High School Event to Be Held Thursday Afternoon.

Preparations are nearly finished for the interclass track meet of Oneonta High school to be held on Thursday afternoon of this week, beginning at 2:30 o'clock. While arrangements for a location have not been completed, it is hoped that the fair grounds can be secured. A suitable prize will also be awarded and interest and rivalry in the event is keen.

Nine events have been arranged for the boys and four for the girls. With each class of the school privileged to enter three contestants in each. Edwin Roberts Moore, of the staff of The Star, will officiate as starter and referee. Principal VanDeusen of the school will be chief judge of the finish, and instructor John T. Lawler will be official timer.

The events for the boys include the 100, 220 and the 440-yard dashes, half and mile runs, the eight-pound shot put and hammer throw, running board and high jump, and the pole vault. Each class has considerable merit to enter and the meet will certainly be a close and stiffly fought one.

Four events for the girls have been added this year, the 50 and 75-yard dashes, broad jump, and baseball throw.

First Baptist Church Representatives. The following will represent the First Baptist church of Oneonta at the meeting of the Franklin Baptist association tomorrow: Dr. and Mrs. Edson J. ### THE BIG CIRCUS ROLLS IN Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus Arrives Early This Morning From Binghamton — Boys of All Ages Watch Unloading.

The Hagenbeck-Wallace circus and menagerie, which has appeared in Oneonta before, giving satisfactory performances to big audiences, rolled into the yards of the D. & H. early this morning, coming from Binghamton, where its manifold features were on exhibition yesterday. As soon as the show arrived the work of unloading began and proceeded with clock-work precision. The tents and cooking outfit, which necessarily come first, are being followed, as The Star goes to press, by parade cars, cages, the hundreds of animals and horses which, 40,000, and the 1,601 workmen and performers, who are set down to unloading in the dining tent at about the same hour that such Oneontians as had not already gone down to witness, perhaps for the first time, the always fascinating spectacle of the arrival and setting up of the one-day circus city on the Wilcox flats, were hastily devouring their own.

The parade, which is announced to be over a mile in length—and Hagenbeck-Wallace are affirmed not to be prone to exaggeration, will start at 11 o'clock and after leaving the show ground will proceed east over the viaduct, covering several of the principal downtown business streets. Scores of arctic stars, new tableau wagons, five bands of musicians and other features of a big circus will be in line. A circus without the parade is the day show of a great part of its interest, and the Hagenbeck-Wallace show is not regarded of this fine attraction.

The doors, if there may be said to be doors to a circus, and not curtains, swing open at 1 and 7 p. m. to allow time for the inspection of the menagerie and for everybody to be seated before the performance begins. The entertainments in the arena will begin at 8 and 9 o'clock, rain or shine. A catalogue of attractions is not feasible, so numerous are they, but mention of many of them has already been made in these columns.

Persons desiring to obtain tickets up town and so of avoiding the rush at the ticket wagon, can obtain them at the Lewis jewelry store, corner of Main and Broad streets.

BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS

Will Have Small Section of Chestnut Street With Concrete.

The decision to pave Chestnut street with concrete for a distance of about 40 feet from the Main street intersection was made at a regular meeting of the Board of Public Works last evening. But little other business of importance was transacted, the majority of the time being spent in a discussion of the best method of repaving bad spots in certain of the city streets.

Superintendent Hollister stated that he was planning to repair a section of the Chestnut street pavement with a coat of oil and crushed stone over the brick and his plan was warmly approved by the Board. Favorable progress was reported on the work of paving Chestnut street extension.

STAMFORD MAN ENDS LIFE

Lifeless Body of Edwin VanTassel Found Hanging From Tree on Farm Two Miles From Village.

Stamford, June 2. — Edwin VanTassel, 30, formerly of Cooksburg, Albany county, who has been employed for about two months and a half by Arthur Metcalf on his farm on the road to South Jefferson about two miles from this village, committed suicide by hanging himself from a tree on the farm at about 9:30 o'clock Sunday night. A farmer passing by discovered the body at about 10 o'clock Monday morning.

VanTassel had used a piece of wire which had been serving as a brace on the chimney of the sap house, after tying one end of the wire about his neck and the other end to the tree he stepped off a woodpile near the tree.

Dr. J. E. Safford, health officer of the town of Stamford, was called and he notified Coroner W. T. Riverburg of Middleburgh who viewed the remains and pronounced the case one of suicide. The body was removed to the undertaking parlors of Tooley & McAlpin and will be taken to Oak Hill, Greene county, where the funeral will be held on Thursday.

VanTassel was born at Sunnide, Greene county. He was married but was not living with his wife. Surviving are the wife, a nine year old son, his parents and one brother, Elmer VanTassel, all of Cooksburg.

The man suffered a mental break down soon after his brother entered service during the World war and was committed to the State hospital at Poughkeepsie where he was confined for about a year. It is thought that his mental difficulties precipitated a second attack of the mental trouble and caused his rash act.

VanTassel was last seen alive at about 9 o'clock Sunday night and apparently in good health and spirits.

When the time came for the hearing in the case of Harry Stiles of the management of Pine Lake Amusement park on the charge of assault and attempt to kill in the shooting affray at the park Saturday evening last, before Justice Doig of the town of Davenport, yesterday afternoon, the case was again adjourned until Friday, June 24th.

Little additional evidence was obtainable yesterday relative to the occurrence, and further than the fact that the justice increased the bail required of Stiles, there was no indication relative to the outcome of the incident.

Kelllogg's Bran did more in two weeks than medicine taken in 20 years

Out of regard for your own health, read this letter:

Your "Krambled Bran," and by me in a week, has done more for me in two weeks than the best of other brands of medicine I have taken in last twenty years. It is so simple. Yours truly, Adolphus E. Cannon, Farmington, N. Y.

Mr. Cannon's experience has been duplicated in thousands of homes. Why does Kelllogg's Bran succeed where drugs and pills fail? The answer is simple. Drugs have an unnatural effect upon the bowels. They irritate the intestines. The more they are used, the more one has to use. Finally, they have no effect at all.

Kelllogg's Bran STIMULATES the intestines. It cleans, soothes and puts them to rest. It acts exactly as nature acts. And it is never necessary to increase the amount taken. It cleanses the system, keeps the bowels in the most chronic cases of constipation, or your greatest return your money. For Kelllogg's Bran is ALL bran. Kelllogg's Bran can be so effective. That is why doctors recommend Kelllogg's.

The wonderful, nut-like flavor of Kelllogg's Bran is exclusive. It is delicious—totally unlike ordinary bran. Eat two tablespoonsful daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Put it with milk or cream and in the recipe on every package. Kelllogg's Bran, cooked and krambled, is made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

RED CLOVER FAILS

Loss of Lime and Fertility Blamed for Failure on Farms Which Formerly Grew It Well.

Like the old grey mare that "ain't what she used to be," the fields on some farms that used to grow red clover well, today fail to produce a good crop.

There's a reason, points out Dr. A. F. Gustafson of the state college of agriculture at Ithaca. This reason, he finds, is a loss of lime and of fertility from the soil.

He gives this information in a new bulletin on the use of lime in New York which the college has just issued.

"The most important factor in the loss of lime, or the development of the so-called 'lime requirement' or soil 'acidity,' is that lime and similar materials are being removed in the drainage water," he writes. "In carefully conducted tests on the Cornell experiment field, expressed as a five-year average, one soil lost lime and magnesia equivalent to 486 pounds, and another 745 pounds, of pure limestone, to the acre.

"In these tests, the drainage is better than on the average farm, and therefore the loss is probably somewhat higher than may be expected in the ordinary field. In field tests for acidity, we have found an average loss of about 500 pounds to the acre a year, and this will require one ton of limestone every four years in order to make up this loss.

"Calcium, the active, useful element in any form of lime, is absolutely necessary for plant growth. Some plants, like clover, and alfalfa, use more calcium than do such others as oats and timothy."

The bulletin, which is #78, gives full information about liming New York soils and contains a map showing in a general way the relative lime content of various sections. The bulletin may be obtained by writing the college at Ithaca.

"JUNIOR"
THE MARVEL OF THE AGE

ALBANY TRICENTENARY

Children Play in America to Celebrate Three Hundredth Anniversary of Its Founding.

Albany, June 2. — The city of Albany during the ensuing week will celebrate the three hundredth anniversary of its city. The Capital City, which also boasts of being the oldest chartered city in America, will observe the occasion with historic pageants and pageants depicting the progressive changes since Hendrik Hudson in 1614 sailed up the broad river, now bearing his name, in search of a waterway to Asia, up to the present time.

The city was decked out in gala array for her tricenarian. The principal thoroughfares were decorated lavishly with the Stars and Stripes and with the flags of the various nations of the world. The city hall and the city flag and the steamers tied at their piers in the Hudson.

Practically every organization—patriotic, social and business—was taking part in the celebration. Parades and meetings; massed bands; entertainments; a regatta on the Hudson and many other features were on the program.

The celebration began today with a Boy Scout rally in Lincoln Park and a Girl Scout Field Day in Washington Park. Tomorrow, commemorative services will be conducted in all city churches, with union services in the afternoon at Harmanus Bleecker hall.

Final opening exercises will be held on the massive steps of the state capitol Monday forenoon. In the afternoon there will be "first settlers" pageant, and the regatta will begin on the river front. The Washington Canoe club, the Canadian Canoe association, the Syracuse Canoe club and associations in New York, Schenectady, Boston, Baltimore and Philadelphia will be represented at the regatta.

In the evening there will be another historical pageant followed by band concerts. Bands from neighboring cities ranging from Elmira Falls to the north and Poughkeepsie to the south were expected to take part in the musical programs.

On Tuesday forenoon Fort Crail, in Rensselaer, on the opposite bank of the Hudson, birthplace of "Yankee Doodle" will be turned over to the state by the owner, Mrs. Susan DeLancey Van Rensselaer Strong, of Philadelphia. After this formal ceremony there will be a parade of decorated boats past the fort. Later there will be other historical parades and pageants.

The tricenarian ball in the state armory Tuesday night will bring the celebration to a close.

Baron Von Steuben, inspector general of the continental armies, will be represented on a float being prepared for the parade by those residents of German descent. He will be depicted as with his staff at Saratoga. The Knights of Columbus are preparing a float to represent the presentation by Governor Thomas Dongan of Albany's charter in 1614.

Descendants of Dutch settlers will dress in costumes of the period between 1624, the time of the establishment of Fort Orange, where Albany now stands, and 1664. Many residents of Indian descent will wear the aboriginal costume.

About two thousand men are expected to march with a "Deeper Hudson and Future Albany" float depicting the result of shipping, rail and industrial development and progress.

Representing an Erie Canal boat and a coach from the first passenger train in the country, which was operated between Albany and Schenectady, and a float representing Robert Fulton's Clermont, the first steamer to sail up the Hudson, will picture transportation of the past. The giant dirigible Shenandoah is expected to be here to represent the latest developments in transportation and will fly over the tricenarian parade route.

A FEW SMILES

"Bang!" went the rifle at the maneuvers.
"Go-o-o!" screamed the pretty girl—a nice, decorous surprised little scream.
She stepped backward into the surprised arms of a young man. "Oh," said she, blushing, "I was frightened by the rifles. I beg your pardon."
"Not at all," said the young man, who's going to win the sympathy prize in the city show.

In at least one instance a court sentence may be said to have been a cosmetic. It changed the huddled, half-dressed bandits into Auburn-robed chorists.

Business Man (to office boy) — "I never saw such a stupid boy as you are. The lad that was here before you was worth twice as much as you are."
Office boy (returning) — "He got it! He's in the hospital!"

The pastor's father had been very kind to him. A sympathetic member of his congregation, meeting him one day, said: "How are you, son? Father today, Dr. Deane?"

"Ah, Mrs. Brown, he has passed away. My dear father is in heaven!"

Well, that is too bad. I am very sorry to hear it. Was the sympathy prize in the city show?

A letter from someone of this sort is not a bad thing to get for the reason that it is not a letter from a person who is not a person.

The police department would not be surprised if they had not been notified by the police department.

We never hear it called "happy" any more. We suppose that's because they are too happy to be called "happy."

NEW KIDS' CHIEF.
It is a fact that after a holiday season, the children are particularly interested in the new children's chief.

The children's chief is a new addition to the children's chief.

The last day of the show is the day of the show.

THREE PERSISTENT WINNERS

Get of Hartwick and Two Boys of 'Landing Party' Off Country Project Menace.

Gertrude Koletnik of Hartwick, as guest of the Hartwick National bank, and Eunice Plak and Edward Most of Canadilla, as guests of the Canadilla bank, will go to the Cornell Junior Field days at Ithaca, June 25, 26 and 27, according to an announcement by the County club agent. In a poultry project which was made more difficult than that undertaken by any other such clubs in the state, these three prize winners persistently stayed by their task and completed the requirements.

The requirements not only called for the raising of the chicks, but also for recording the cost of raising them from May 1, 1922, to January 1, 1924. From this time on was added the recording of the number of eggs laid and the receipts for these eggs. Many of those starting in the clubs were troubled with poor hatching and some found they lacked the required number of pullets. Others had no housing facilities for the latter part of the project. This resulted in the elimination of all but the three completing in the two clubs. At the present time over 20 boys and girls are taking the egg-laying project which began in January and which is sponsored by the Pomona grange. It is expected that 20 Junior Project workers from Otsego county will visit the Junior Project field days at Cornell along with 600 boys and girls from throughout the state. Several of the 30 go as prize winners, while others are now working hard to earn the money.
